March 1st, 1906

Having been most gratified with the high appreciation and interest which the American public, both in St. Louis and New York, has shown in the Russian Art Exposition in America, I wish to express my thanks.

This is the largest collection of works of Modern Russian Artists ever brought together and is representative of every school in Russia. The artists are all of the highest, and each one who is represented here has received degrees and awards. The collection took three years to arrange and was made especially for the St. Louis World's Fair, 1904

Owing the present unfortunate condition in Russia, these artists desire that their works should be sold, not only in order that their financial positions may be improved, but that the cordial relations between Russia and America may be strengthened, by the American public becoming familiar with Russian Works of Art.

I have, therefore, arranged to have a Public Auction of these Paintings, etc. The sales will take place on the evenings of March 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th, at 8 o'clock, and will be conducted by Mr. William B. Norman, of the Fifth Avenue Auction Rooms.

This is the greatest opportunity ever presented for American patrons of art to become the possessors of beautiful and unique examples of Russian Paintings, Sculpture, etc.

We cordially invite your attendance.

EDWARD M. GRUNWALDT,

Councillor of Commerce,

Executive Commissioner for Russia at the Louisiana
Purchase Exposition, 1904.
